

Research in the group

The Greggio laboratory is interested in studying the molecular mechanisms underlying the early events of aging, in particular those associated with neurodegenerative diseases. We combine cellular and animal models of genetic forms of Parkinson's disease and Hereditary Spastic Paraplegia to investigate the impact of gain and loss of function mutations on neuronal and glial cells homeostasis.